[] 27 October, 1515-1700 hours

1. GERMANN - See MINI 8292.

2. Karl BRUNNER - See MINI 8290.

3. UJEDROWY's New Dst. - FLAMING said it had been decided that UTILITY would not brief UJEDROWY on his new assignment until late in the week of 13 November or early in the week of 20 November. There are various reasons for the delay. UJEDROWY has decided to take leave in Oberandorf the week of 30 October. (After initially feeling this was odd, it really makes sense because UJEDROWY would like to use up his accrued leave before taking on a new job, his daughter has a 3-day vacation from school, etc.) Another complication is UJEDROWY's planned trip to Berlin. (See below.)

4. UJEDROWY's Trip to Berlin - Quite unexpectedly, UJEDROWY somehow has decided that it is necessary for UJEDROWY to make one more trip to Berlin to surveil a BAHANE meeting. It also appears that UJEDROWY has decided when UJEDROWY should make the trip and will have the meeting between UJEDROWY and BAHANE arranged accordingly. FLAMING noted that there obviously was no need for surveillance at this point in view of the Berlin situation, and that even if there were it would seem rather more normal if the whole thing were not decided by UJEDROWY and UJEDROWY - without any real reference to the BAHANE operation. FLAMING described the development as a "Prochzeit" and said it would obviously be desirable to attempt to surveil UJEDROWY since it seemed so likely that he is going to Berlin to have a meeting with the RIS. FLAMING said he could not imagine why this should be necessary at this time, but there no doubt could be various explanations. As of now it appears that UJEDROWY will drive his ops radio car from Koenig to Munich circa 12 November so that the car can be used for the surveillance "ingang" due to be held starting 13 November. UJEDROWY, as the result of some pressure from UJEDROWY, will sit in on part of the training and then take off directly from Munich to Berlin on 14 November and probably go from Berlin to Koenig on 16 November. UJEDROWY already has officially announced his plan to take a business trip to Koenig circa 15 November - so he expects to be on hand when UJEDROWY returns from Berlin. FLAMING said it was amusing how UJEDROWY and UJEDROWY were able to schedule things like this to their liking - with no one in UPHILL who isn't cut in on UJEDROWY ever taking notice or caring. FLAMING said that another amusing aspect was that although UJEDROWY and UJEDROWY had things very carefully mapped out - UJEDROWY as yet did not appear to have a clue that he will have to go to Berlin at this time for a meeting with BAHANE, nor did BAHANE have any idea that UJEDROWY was coming.
